

Is this Mother Nature's cure for knee arthritis? “How Roosters Helped Scientists Develop Breakthrough Knee Arthritis Treatment That’s Sweeping The Nation”

And how you can find out if this FDA cleared, cutting-edge arthritis treatment (covered by most insurance - even Medicare) can end your knee pain – without toxic drugs or grueling surgery...”

Lexington, KY – Scientific discoveries come fast and furious. And medical breakthroughs are not only making us live longer – but better - by taking away so many of our aches and pains.

But the really interesting thing is – how some of the most powerful medical breakthroughs have come directly from Mother Nature. For example, everyone knows that antibiotics transformed medicine and has saved countless lives. But here’s something you may not know: Back in 1928 Alexander Fleming was clearing off his cluttered desk and noticed mould was growing on a slide and killing bacteria. That mould was penicillin – Mother Nature’s bacteria killing and disease curing killing wonder.

Mother Nature’s Arthritis Cure?
 Now scientists have teamed up with Mother Nature once again and discovered a natural, powerful, cutting-edge treatment for arthritis.

This treatment is called Hyalgan and arthritis suffers can’t seem to get it fast enough. While Doctors offering it can’t keep up with the demand.

“The response has been incredible. Once the word got out, arthritis sufferers started flooding our phone lines and swarming the office. Once they found out there is an FDA cleared, Doctor administered arthritis treatment that actually works – without the side effects of toxic pain pills or grueling surgery - and has enough scientific research that it is covered by most insurance and even Medicare – just about everyone suffering with painful arthritis wants to give it a try.”

Those are the words of Dr. R Boyer MD, Director of Arthritis Treatment at Osteo Relief Institute, which is easily accessible and located here in Lexington, KY.

He is referring to the recent introduction of the breakthrough arthritis treatment, featuring Hyalgan, to his office in Lexington.

The Amazing Hyalgan Story
 Osteoarthritis is a joint disease that mostly affects the cartilage. Cartilage is the tissue that covers the ends of bones in a joint. When healthy, cartilage allows bones to glide smoothly over one another and acts as a shock absorber.

Your “normal” knee also contains a small amount of fluid called synovial fluid. This synovial fluid is a thick, gel-like solution that cushions and lubricates the joint – much like oil lubricates the engine of your car.

In osteoarthritis, the cartilage breaks down and wears away and the synovial fluid loses its lubricating properties and “dries up.” This is like running your car with very old oil or none at all. Now as you attempt to use your knee(s), there is not enough lubrication, which causes bones to grind together resulting in pain, swelling, stiffness and the joint continues to wear out. This is a vicious cycle and can lead to bone-on-bone rubbing and excruciating pain.

Pain pills do NOT lubricate the joint or fix the problem. They simply attempt to make you numb so you do not feel the pain as your joints continue to deteriorate.

Roosters Help Scientist Cure Arthritis?

Here’s where the story gets really good. Since the “drying up” of synovial fluid causes joint surfaces to rub together and painful arthritis– it makes sense that if we could just put more good synovial fluid into the joint – it would solve the problem.

It would be like putting fresh oil on a squeaky door hinge. As soon as the hinge is lubricated properly – the rubbing and squeaking stops.

As soon as your knee joint has fresh synovial fluid – the rubbing and painful arthritis is gone.

But there was a big problem: Doctors don’t know how to make synovial fluid. And everything they tried to make in the lab wasn’t nearly good enough. It’s pretty clear that...

You can’t fool Mother Nature and she is tough to compete with!

That’s where the roosters come in. You see, scientists discovered that the substance in rooster combs (that big red thing on top of their heads) is made of hyaluronic acid. And here’s why that is so important:

hya-luronic acid is one of the two natural lubricating agents in synovial fluid!

Scientists are now able to extract the hya-luronic acid from rooster combs, purify it and create the breakthrough arthritis treatment Hyalgan.

Hyalgan is precisely injected directly into your knee joint in a series of 3-5 treatments over a 4 week period.

This instantly lubricates the joint, reduces friction and allows greater motion with less pain or no pain at all.

Hyalgan treatment not only lubricates the joint, but it acts as a shock absorber.

Here’s something very important to consider: Even though Hyalgan is a natural substance and is NOT considered a drug, it is NOT something you can get at your local health food store. It is scientifically researched, developed by pharmaceutical companies, FDA cleared and ONLY administered by a qualified Doctor.

Who Should Consider Hyalgan Therapy, Where Can You Get It And When Should You Start?

You should certainly consider Hyalgan therapy if you have been diagnosed with knee arthritis or told you need a knee replacement. If you have not been diagnosed with arthritis but have either knee pain, stiffness (especially after use or in the morning), swelling or loss of range of motion, – you should have an examination by a specialist to determine what the cause of your problem is. If you have any of those symptoms, there is a very good chance you have or are starting to get arthritis. You may have heard about and even tried glucosamine and chondroitin. The problem with glucosamine and chondroitin is that they do not work for everyone. Hyalgan has had major success with many knee arthritis sufferers who were failed by glucosamine and chondroitin.

If these supplements have not worked for you – you may be a prime candidate for Hyalgan.

And It Is Very Important That You Do Not Wait – Here Is Why...

Studies indicate that if the arthritis is caught soon enough, the cushioning effect of the treatments combined with a specialized rehabilitation program may actually help the knee heal and cartilage may regrow which will help avoid joint replacement surgery. In other words, the sooner you start – the better.

Does the procedure hurt? A local anesthetic is given and the procedure is virtually painless. Most patients say it is like getting a flu shot.

But There Is A Problem...

Even though Hyalgan helps a majority of patients the office has treated, it is not a wonder cure and does not help everyone.

For that reason, a complete examination is performed on every potential patient and the doctor only accepts you if he feels you are most likely to get the pain relief and outcome you are looking for.

That’s why Dr. Boyer in for a free screening to see if you are a candidate for Hyalgan treatments.

All you have to do is call 859-587-0015 right now and when Rose answers the phone tell her you would like your risk free “Knee Pain Screening.” They will know exactly what you are talking about and schedule you for the our first available time that fits your schedule.

Your screening should take about 25 to 30 minutes. During this time you can get all your questioned answered in a warm and friendly environment. You will know exactly what your treatment options are and if Hyalgan therapy is right for you.

Read This If You Have Already Had Treatment With Hyalgan, Orthovisc, Supartz Or Synvisc Without Good Results

If you have already had treatment with one of the products listed above (even Hyalgan) and did not get the results you were looking for, we still may be able to help you. And here is why...

All the treatment products listed above are in the same family. But they are not the same.

Dr. Boyer uses Hyalgan because it is the lowest molecular weight and in his clinical experience it has given him the best results.

Dr. Boyer does not use Synvisc because although it is extracted from rooster combs (like Hyalgan) is chemically cross-linked with formaldehyde and vinylsulfone.

And here’s why you may have not gotten good results even if you were treated with Hyalgan:

The doctor is trained in the use of state-of-the art fluoroscopy (a low-dose motion x-ray) to see inside the joint to make sure treatments have the best possibility for maximum success.

This is very important because studies show that Doctors doing joint injections without fluoroscopy can miss the joint space 30% of the time!

If your doctors did not use this state-of-the-art fluoroscopy... there is a chance the Hyalgan did not end up where it was supposed to.

But if you would like to do this, you must call right now. The demand for this procedure has been overwhelming. And since Dr. Boyer cannot possibly see everyone and always makes sure he gives every single patient the personal attention they deserve, he has had to limit the number of free screenings to 20.

Just imagine how it would feel have all of your knee pain finally gone.

Imagine going to bed and being able to sleep through the entire night – and waking up refreshed and energized... ready to take on the brand new day – without the arthritis pain that has been terrorizing you.

And imagine finally knowing you have a solution to your painful knee arthritis.

Well, you may not have to just “imagine” any more...because... Hyalgan treatments might be the answer you’ve been looking for.

If you’d like to see if Hyalgan can help you for free, simply give Rose a call at 859-587-0015 right now. Why wait one more day in pain when you may not have to? Call now before someone else gets your free spot.

One More Thing It’s Important...

Ever since offering this wonderful treatment, Dr. Boyer’s office has been flooded with calls. For that reason, if when you call, the lines are busy or you get voice mail... just keep calling back. The possibility of living pain-free is well worth the time and effort it may take to get through to Rose and schedule your free screening.

And don’t forget: Hyalgan treatments are covered by most insurance and Medicare. To schedule your free screening or if you have any questions call 859-587-0015 now.

Deficit

From DEFICIT, front page
director.
“At that time there was close to $60,000 in CDs,” Whitaker said referring to the center’s cash reserve.
Laytart, who was appointed to the board in 2008, said a $25,000 CD was cashed right before she joined the board. That was followed by a $20,000 cash in and another for $10,000 to pay bills and meet payroll.
“We have no cash reserve now,” Laytart expressed.
Whitaker contends that the center’s financing was set up to fail from the start.
The building was constructed in 1996-97 with city and county ownership.
The Senior Citizens and Community Action are paying rent.
Whitaker said the Senior Citizens’ rent is $1,517 monthly. Additionally, any maintenance and repairs needed are at the expense of the Senior Citizens, not the city and county.
Laytart and Whitaker explained that when the building was new and there were no repairs to be made, it wasn’t such a bad arrangement.

However, since February 2012, there have been $23,836 repairs and a new roof is still needed.
Whitaker said ideally the city and county will refinance the balance owed on the building, which is about $350,000, and the lease can be renegotiated.
“Most centers, which are non-profit, are not paying rent,” Whitaker said.
The city and county each contribute to the center’s budget. The county gives $19,500 annually and the city gives $12,000.
Most revenue for the center comes from the state through the Blue Grass Area Development District, which was budgeted at about $158,000 during the 2011-2012 fiscal year. Another $150,000 comes from Medicaid.
The biggest expense is salaries, which amounted to $256,383 in 2011-12.
Whitaker’s salary is $31,200 annually. The highest paid employee is a full-time nurse who earns $33,280. She said employees have not had a raise in five years.

She said that this year is the first opportunity the center has had to get out of contracts that were started five years ago and were a drain on the center’s finances.
She explained that they were paying $200 a month for elevator inspections and $10,000 over a 5-year period for a copier that even at the end of the five years, they still did not own the equipment.
“I just feel like we’ve been cleaning up problem after problem after problem,” said Laytart.
According to senior citizens’ records, revenue has fallen every year since 2009. Expenses have also been cut, but not enough to stop the financial bleeding.
During this fiscal year, there is already a $29,590 deficit with three months remaining.
What brought the financial issue into the open was the recent request by the board of directors for the city and county to help pay for nearly $60,000 in unpaid payroll taxes.

“We were just going deeper and deeper,” Whitaker said of the taxes.
She said she contacted the Internal Revenue Service when she took over asking how best to resolve the problem.
She said she was advised to pay on the oldest bills, going back to 2010, according to IRS documents acquired with the open records request.
Payroll taxes went either unpaid or partially paid during the final three quarters of 2012 and the first quarter of 2013.
“Our goal was to keep services going,” said Whitaker. “We were robbing Peter to pay Paul.”
Unpaid payroll taxes now total $43,452.57. With fines and interest, total amount due to the IRS was $58,697. However, with IRS abatement, the debt was lowered to $45,995.42 of which the county and city will split.
Now, Whitaker said it appears the center will have to cut services or find another agency to take over.
“We’re trying very hard to find a solution,” Laytart said.

“We cannot continue to operate at this rate.”
Responding to Cynthiana City Commissioners’ question of will the Center be in the same shape next year and need city and county to bail them out, Laytart said no.
“We won’t be in this shape next year, one way or another,” she said.
Laytart said they are looking at Blue Grass Community Action Partnership (CAP) to take over the Cynthiana programs as well as looking at offering fewer programs.
“We want what is best for our seniors,” Whitaker said.
Laytart added that the building issue may be a deal breaker for CAP in that they operate rent-free in other counties.
“I’ve tried to do my best by the seniors,” said Whitaker. “We have a wonderful staff. I’d hate to see the center go out.”
Whitaker said if she could go back she didn’t know if she could have done anything differently.
“My heart was in the right place,” Whitaker said.

City agrees to pay half of delinquent taxes for Commission on Aging

By BECKY BARNES, Editor
During a special meeting on Tuesday, May 7, the Cynthiana City Commission agreed to pay one-half of the delinquent tax bill for the Commission on Aging.
Mayor Steve Moses told commissioners that the city’s and county’s portions were adjusted to remove the penalties from the overall bill. The city will pay $22,997.71.
Moses said that during a meeting with an Internal Revenue Service agent on May 2 that the board of directors were assured there would be no criminal charges filed.
“The problem I have...” said Commissioner Roger Slade, “This leaves a bad taste in my mouth. We’re asking all of our departments to make cuts... There may not be anything illegal, but it’s certainly a competency issue. $23,000 doesn’t sound like a lot, but there has to be controls. I have no confidence that we won’t be having this discussion next year.”
Slade added that he would like to see a monthly budget.

Moses said Blue Grass Community Action Partnership (CAP) is thinking of taking over the Harrison County Senior Citizens Center.
He said there has already been some discussion regarding the center’s expenses, particularly salaries.
“They’re saying if they take over they’ll downsize,” Moses said, noting that CAP representative has said salaries are too high and there are too many people on staff.
Moses said the city could know as early as next week if CAP is interested in the Harrison County Senior Citizens Center.

“I don’t think anyone around the table thinks this is not a worthwhile program,” said Commissioner Gary Bruner. “But it still goes back to having to have some type of accountability.”
Commissioner Jack Keith agreed.
“We can’t change history,” said Keith. “Have to make sure this doesn’t happen again.”
Moses noted that in 2007 there was $80,000 in the senior citizens account, which was all spent by 2010.
“They have no surplus at all,” Moses said.
Commissioners voted unanimously to pay the nearly $23,000 to bring the account up to day with the IRS.

Intruder

From INTRUDER, front pg.
Kreer explained that while Northcutt moved closer to the front door, he heard the door open again and then shut.
“At that time, Northcutt opened the front door and looked outside and saw an unknown person in the yard,” said Kreer. “According to Northcutt, after he told the person to stop where he was, the person began firing a handgun at him.”
Kreer said Northcutt was able to return fire while not being struck by the intruder.
Northcutt jumped back into the home in order to shield himself from the gunfire.

Kreer said once Northcutt was back inside, he looked through a window and saw a large dark-colored SUV drive away from the house.
Harrison County Sheriff Bruce Hampton and Det. Paul Olin were called onto the scene to help collect evidence.
“We were able to recover evidence from the scene that has been sent to the Kentucky State Police crime lab to be tested,” explained Olin.
Kreer said that a handgun was stolen from the residence and is believed to be the same gun used to fire at Northcutt.

“A gun, which was loaded, was taken from the house along with other property that has still not be found,” explained Olin.
According to Kreer, it is believed that the intruder was unaware that Northcutt was home due to there not being a vehicle in the driveway.
Kreer said the SUV was headed toward Scott County after it fled from the scene. No suspects have been named at this time.

Look for warning signs and think before you act

Column

Ben Hyatt
news writer

It saddens me to know that there has yet again been a young life taken from the world at such an early age.

A young HCHS student allegedly took his own life over the weekend, leaving behind a host of family and friends to grieve his death. While everyone wants to know the answers to why, how and when, all that I care about are that measures are still not taken to prevent things like this from happening.

Now I am not so naive to think that there is a magical switch that can be turned off to disable people from ever harming themselves.

However, I still believe that there are warning signs that give us clues to prevent unfortunate circumstances like this from occurring.

First off, I think that we should all put out of our minds that we know someone enough to think that... "They would never do that."

Simply letting the words fall off the tip of your tongue slips a blindfold over your eyes so that you never see the events leading toward something drastic.

None of us really knows what is going on in the mind of someone.

Therefore, we all need to abandon the idea that we know what one will and will not do.

Second, let's all face the music that we sometimes need help.

I can recall several instances in high school where I knew one of my friends was playing with the idea of harming themselves.

Yet, I never said anything about it because I didn't want to be the out-cast or worry wart.

Throw that all out as well.

Speaking-up, no matter how ridiculous it may sound, in my book gives you a peace of mind.

You know then that you did what you could and administrators or parents are left to take-over from there.

Don't ever be afraid to speak out or to ask adults for help.

That's what grown-ups are for.

Lastly, I guess would be more for those who are thinking about harming themselves.

The question that always goes through my mind is... What could have been that bad?

Nothing is as bad as it seems.

I have hit the wall a few times in my life.

What got me through it was knowing that things can always be worse and any problem, regardless of its intensity, can be fixed and a lesson can be learned from it.

Think of your family and the hurt that is caused by you not being there anymore.

Think about your friends and the burden that is placed upon them for not being there to stop you.

My heart goes out to the families who are forever stricken from the unforeseen memories that would have been and to the friends who are now a little less whole.

Remember to think about your action. Some actions can't be taken back.

Medicaid expansion could change Kentucky's course, big time

By AL CROSS,

KENTUCKY HEALTH NEWS

"Today we change the course of Kentucky's history."

It is not often that a public official can say such a thing with a large measure of credibility, but Gov. Steve Beshear legitimately raised that hope last Thursday, as he announced that he would expand Kentucky's Medicaid program under federal health reform.

If Beshear's vision is fulfilled, Kentucky will no longer have one of the unhealthiest populations of any state, a change that will make it more attractive to employers, and any Kentuckian who wants health insurance will be able to get it.

It is in large measure the realization, in the state where all President Harry Truman's grandparents were born, of his 68-year-old dream of national health insurance. The statue of Truman's vice president, Alben Barkley of Paducah, seemed to shine a little more brightly than usual in the Capitol rotunda as the press-conference crowd dispersed.

But this is a project with many moving parts -- billions of dollars, thousands of health-care providers, hundreds of thousands of Medicaid beneficiaries, and scores of political and bureaucratic decisions -- and much could go wrong.

Skeptics point to the problems with the managed-care Medicaid system that Beshear implemented too hurriedly, apparently to avoid complicating his November 2011 re-election, and argue that the program needs fixing before adding 300,000 new enrollees to the 825,000 already on the rolls. Beshear says he's tackling the problems, the program is "working pretty well" and the managed-care companies can handle the influx.

The skeptics also question whether the state can afford the match for the federal funds. "Broad and vague anxieties," Beshear called them, and he came armed with two studies concluding that expansion would actually gain the state money -- mainly because of the billions it will send to the state's health-care providers, creating more jobs, but also because many of the 300,000 or so newly eligible people are not expected to enroll, based on a Price Waterhouse Coopers study drawing on research by the Congressional Budget Office.

Preliminary estimates were that expansion would add 400,000 Kentuckians to the Medicaid rolls. However, the study estimated that only 308,000 will become eligible and that only 188,000 will enroll, thus costing the state much less than some expected when it has to match federal funds beginning in January 2017.

The initial match will be 5 percent, rising to 10 percent in 2020. The estimated cost for the newly eligible in fiscal 2020-21 is $151 million, in a state budget that is likely to exceed $10 billion. (The state's current share of Medicaid costs, 29.5 percent, is about $1.5 billion a year.)

Those are just estimates. "I believe reality will dwarf those numbers on the spending side," Tea Party activist David Adams, who says he plans to challenge the plan in court, told reporters. But for the time being at least, Beshear has the numbers on his side, and he said they are "very conservative."

The governor said opponents of the plan "fall back on national politics" and say expansion means that Kentucky, a state that President Obama lost big both times, will be "supporting Obamacare. To them I say, 'Get over it.' . . . I'm going to do what's best for Kentucky's people, period." Asked why so many governors have rejected expansion, he said it was mostly "partisan politics."

Conservative columnist John David Dyche cites an Oregon study saying Medicaid is ineffective, but a Harvard School of Public Health study in three other states showed that expansion of Medicaid improves health and saves lives.

Beshear said the expansion, along with health insurance and subsidies available through a state-run exchange that is also part of health reform, would give the state a healthier workforce because studies show that people with health insurance are less likely to skip exams and let health conditions worsen and become costlier and more difficult to treat. "The lack of early care is one reason that Kentucky's health picture is so horrendous," he said.

Kentucky's workforce is one of the nation's least healthy, and the state has a disproportionate number of working-age people who are not in the workforce because of health problems. The state ranks first in smoking, cancer deaths and preventable hospitalizations; second in heart disease and poor physical-health days; third in heart attacks and poor mental-health days; and in the top 10 in diabetes, cholesterol and sedentary lifestyles. That hurts the state's image as well as its economy, Beshear said. "There will be a huge economic effect for a healthier Kentucky."

He said most of the newly eligible people are not "freeloaders asking for a handout," but people who are working at jobs without health insurance. He said another 332,000 Kentuckians will get insurance through the state exchange, 276,000 of them with subsidies available to people with incomes up to 400 percent of the poverty level. Without Medicaid expansion, he said, 206,000 would not be eligible for Medicaid or a subsidy, and "We cannot leave those people stranded."

The health-reform law tried to force states into expanding Medicaid, but the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the states should make the choice without fear of financial penalties. The law calls for expansion to cover people under 65 in households up to 138 percent of the federal poverty level -- currently $15,856 for an individual or $32,499 for a family of four.

Republicans can do little to stop the expansion. They control the state Senate, but Medicaid eligibility and benefit decisions belong to the executive branch, and even if a bipartisan legislative committee were to block the implementing regulations, Beshear could override it.

Or perhaps we should say he would override it. Emotional at times, Beshear called the move "the single most important decision of our lifetime for improving the health of Kentuckians" but said it was easy to make. As a governor who has failed to win his main campaign promise, expanded gambling, and has had relatively little money to spend because of the Great Recession, this is likely to be his largest legacy.

Court pursues plans for renovation of old courthouse

By Ben Hyatt, News Writer
The Harrison County Fiscal Court has agreed to hire Brandsetter Carroll Inc. to draw plans for a proposed renovation of the old courthouse on Main Street.
During Tuesday’s Harrison County Fiscal Court meeting, County Judge-Executive Alex Barnett informed the court that a firm had proposed an idea for renovating the old courthouse, which would eventually be used to also house the county clerk’s office.
“I spoke with a representative who told me that plans would cost the county normally $15,000 to draw-up and show what work would be done,” explained Barnett. “They said they wanted to see this project happen so they would reduce the draw-up to only $5,000.”

Barnett explained that the restoration would not take-away from the historical “character” of the building but only make modifications to allow space for the county clerk’s office.
“We have to do something to both the courthouse and with the clerk’s office,” said Barnett.
No hard figures were given but Barnett explained that the project should be just under $1 million.

“Can we handle a $65,000 a year payment without raising taxes,” asked magistrate Brad Marshall. “I don’t want taxes raised but I agree that something must be done.”
Barnett explained that the county could potentially put the loan on a 20 to 30 year payment plan which would allow the county to pay the loan without raising any taxes.
The court voted to allow Brandsetter Carroll Inc. to draw plans and to give a more definite cost of the renovation.
Also discussed was the possibility of Bluegrass Community Action taking-over the services of the Senior Citizens Center.

“I don’t want to hang our seniors out to dry,” said magistrate Bradley Copes. “I will not vote for anything unless they agree to not cut any of the services currently provided.”
Barnett explained that Bluegrass Community Action has agreed to continue all services but will not pay any rent on the building.
“Rent is $1,517 a month which pays the mortgage,” said Barnett. “The county and city would be forced to make-up the rest if this came to be.”
The court agreed to look further into the situation before taking any action.

Finally, as a matter of record, the court was informed that seasonal and part-time workers would be hired for the Harrison County Parks and Recreation and deputy jail as follows:
Recreation Department, Cindy Taylor, Robin Glascock, Diana Watkins as part-time concession workers, Brian Arnold, Jacob Dixon and Chad Herrington as part-time workers for Parks and Recreation.
It was also voted to hire Steve McCauley as a part-time deputy jailer.

Mayor confronts commissioner about Parks and Rec funding

By Becky Barnes, Editor
Following a brief-but-heated exchange at Tuesday’s Cynthiana City Commission, a $12,044.67 contribution was approved for Parks and Recreation.
When Finance Commissioner Billy Grayson presented payables for approval, Mayor Steve Moses questioned the payment to Harrison County Fiscal Court that would go to Parks and Rec.
“This was not budgeted,” Moses said.

Grayson countered that it as part of the inter-local agreement that the city and county signed when the new Parks and Rec Department was created and agreed that it would be funded 50/50.
In a confrontational manner, Moses claimed that Grayson should have requested that the budget be amended to reflect any costs that the city would incur with the restructuring of the department.
Grayson said that perhaps he should have requested an amendment. However, he noted that the inter-local agreement was approved.
Moses then stated that all inter-local agreements should be funded 50/50.
Grayson said that each situation would have to be dealt with individually.

Moses reiterated that the 50/50 inter-local agreement should be for all agencies for which an agreement was signed and noted that the Economic Development Authority in particular was still owed $8,800 from the city.
The motion had been made by Grayson and seconded by Commissioner Gary Brunker prior to the debate.

When it appeared the discussion was deadlocked, Brunker called for the vote.
Moses said he wanted to know the commissioners’ position.
“I think you’ll know with our vote,” Brunker lamented.
In another matter, the commission:
•Heard from Haviland Argo with Kentucky Utilities regarding burying utility lines on Pike Street between Main and the rail road tracks.

•Heard a presentation by James Smith, Chamber president, regarding an application for funding to help promote tourism.
Smith said the city contributes $6,000 to the Chamber of Commerce each year and that they are asking for no more money for the Chamber. However, he did request $4,000 to be used solely for tourism.
•Gave the go-ahead to Ben Maybrier and Woody Richie to for a welcome sign at the south end of Cynthiana on U.S. 27. The sign would incorporate the city’s existing sign as well as place organization signs around it on one 10-foot-by-9-foot metal frame.

•Approved electrical franchises for Cynthiana from Kentucky Utilities and Blue Grass Energy.
•Heard Grayson report that the swing set had to be removed from Hero’s Park after an injury occurred there.

He said new equipment will be ordered to replace what was removed at a cost of $600 to the city.
•Declared a 2001 Ford Crown Victoria as surplus property then agreed to accept bids for the purchase of the vehicle.
•Reappointed Frazer LeBus III and Stephen McCauley to the P&Z Board of Adjustments and Gary Dearborn to the P&Z board.
•Met in executive session to discuss the appointment or hiring of a specific individual and to discuss a disciplinary matter with a specific employee.
Following the closed session, the commission voted to not offer employment to a former employee who wanted to be reinstated.
The disciplinary action, Brunker said, was being handled through policy and procedures by the commissioner.

harriCYN community theatre honored by Chamber

By BEN HYATT, NEWS WRITER

The harriCYN Community Theatre has been awarded the Chamber of Commerce Spirit of the Arts Award.

The Spirit of the Arts Award is a special recognition only given to those who express a great passion and support for arts in Harrison County.

Receiving the award at the annual Chamber Banquet on behalf of the Harrison Community Theatre were president and vice president Laura Stephens and Missy Lutz.

Stephens, an English teacher at Harrison County High School, explained during an interview why the arts are so important to a small community like Harrison County.

“There needs to be some creative and cultural outlet for people in a community,” said Stephens. “Plus we just love doing this.”

Since harriCYN Community Theatre came into existence, the community has been witness to several events including plays, musicals and music reviews like Cynthiana Idol.

“With all the cuts in school, especially in the arts, we feel it necessary to provide an outlet for both kids and adults to work together,” said Lutz.

Most of the productions have been showcased in the historic Rohs Opera House and for a good reason.

The time-captured historical building, which has seen major renovation recently, gives any art viewer the feeling of being inside an old historical, big city theater.

Missy Lutz and Laura Stephens

“Community theatre has benefitted greatly from Rohs,” said Stephens. “We are thankful that it can serve the needs and be the main site of the productions as well as liven-up downtown Cynthiana.”

Both Stephens and Lutz also contributed the success of community theatre to the continued support of the community and the involvement that comes to bat at every production.

“This really is a community theatre in the fact that we call upon everyone in the community for support and talents,” said Stephens. “We encompass everyone that is wanting to be involved.”

Lutz and Stephens said new plans are being brainstormed now in order to hopefully expand the theatre genre in the near future.

“We are looking to hopefully do more children-appropriate plays in the future,” said Lutz. “Drama is a must have but every now and then, something light and for the entire family is nice to have too.”

Both ladies gave a tremendous amount of praise for the continued sponsorship and support to the community.

“Without our sponsors and support, this would not stay afloat,” said Stephens. “We are thankful for being recognized and we hope to bring even more quality theater and arts to our community in the near future.”

By GARY CARTER, Co. EXT. AGENT

It's that time of the year to watch for possible termite infestation. If you see a problem in your home, study the following questions and answers to determine the proper way to treat your home.

Why worry about termites? Termites cause billions of dollars in damage each year. They primarily feed on wood, but also damage paper, books, insulation, and even swimming pool liners and filtration systems. Termites injure living trees and shrubs, but more often are a secondary invader of woody plants already in decline. While buildings may become infested at any time, termites are of particular importance when buying or selling a home since a termite inspection/infestation report is normally a condition of sale. Besides the monetary impact, thousands of winged termites emerging inside one's home are an emotionally trying experience – not to mention the thought of termites silently feasting on one's largest investment.

Why are infestations often discovered during March – May? Spring typically is when large numbers of winged termites, known as “swarmers”, emerge inside homes. In nature, termites swarm to disperse and start new colonies. Triggered by warmer temperatures and rainfall, the winged termites emerge from the colony and fly into the air. The swarmers then drop to the ground, shed their wings, pair off with a mate, and attempt to begin new colonies in the soil. Few swarmers emerging outdoors survive to start new colonies. Swarmers emerging indoors are incapable of eating wood, seldom survive, and are best removed with a vacuum. They do, however, indicate that an infestation is present.

How will I know if my home is infested?

Discovering winged termites indoors almost always indicates an infestation warranting treatment. People often confuse winged termites with ants, which often swarm at the same time of year. Termites can be differentiated by their straight antennae, uniform waist and wings of equal size. (Ants have elbowed antennae, constricted waists and forewings that are longer than the hind wings.)

The swarmers are attracted to light and are often seen around windows and doors. Termite swarmers emerging from tree stumps, woodpiles, and other locations out in the yard are not necessarily cause for concern, and do not necessarily mean that the house is infested. On the other hand, if winged termites are seen emerging from the base of a foundation wall or adjoining porches and patios, there's a good chance the house is infested also and treatment may be warranted.

Other signs of infestation are earthen (mud) tubes extending over foundation walls, support piers, sill plates, floor joists, etc. The mud tubes are typically about the diameter of a pencil, but sometimes can be thicker.

Termites construct these tubes for shelter as they travel between their underground colonies and structure. To help determine if an infestation is active, the tubes may be broken open and checked for the presence of small, creamy-white worker termites.

Can I treat the house myself? Ridding a home of termites requires special skills. A knowledge of building construction is needed to identify the critical areas where termites are likely to enter. Many of these potential points of entry are hidden and difficult to access. Termite control also utilizes specialized equipment such as masonry drills, pumps, large-capacity tanks, and soil treatment rods. A typical treatment may involve hundreds of gallons of liquid pesticide, known as termiticide, injected into the ground alongside the foundation, beneath concrete slabs, and within foundation walls.

In short, termite treatment is a job for professionals. A possible exception would be if a mailbox post, sandbox, or other small wooden object not attached to the house was infested. “Do-it-yourself” products, sold to homeowners at retail stores or bought over the internet, will seldom eradicate an existing termite problem.

Which treatment methods and products are most effective? This is another challenging question. There are two general categories of termite treatment, liquids and baits. Soil-applied liquid termiticides have been around for decades. Their purpose is to provide a long-lasting chemical barrier that excludes termites in the ground from entering buildings. In most cases, termites in the structure die off as well, since they cannot return to the soil. Most former products were repellent rather than lethal to termites foraging the soil. Newer materials, such as Premise (imidacloprid), Termidor (fipronil), and Phantom (chlorfenapyr), are non-repellent and termites tunneling into the treatment zone are killed. Overall the non-repellent products are proving to be reliable in their ability to resolve termite problems in the first attempt. All registered termiticides (both repellent and non-repellent) can be effective, however, and homeowners should not base their purchasing decision on product alone.

Does the entire house need to be treated.... Or can they just treat areas where I see termites? Subterranean termite colonies may contain hundreds of thousands of individuals, foraging in many different directions. For the homeowner, localized or “spot” treatments are generally a gamble except in cases of retreatment. Most reputable pest control firms will not warranty spot treatments, since it's likely that termites will eventually find other points of entry into the structure.

Some companies may offer to do a so-called “perimeter” treatment, using one of the non-repellent liquid termiticides (Termidor, Premise, etc.). Typically this will involve a thorough application around the entire outside foundation wall of the building, and spot-treating any infested or high-risk interior areas. If the homeowner is considering such a treatment, they should inquire whether it will be accompanied by a service agreement in case termites return. (Service renewal agreements usually state that if termites return, the company will return and retreat the affected areas at no additional charge provided the renewal agreement is maintained.) If it's a bit of a gamble to purchase any termite treatment option without an ongoing service agreement.

How long will the treatment last? All liquid treatments are supposed to control termites for at least five years when applied according to label directions. The actual length of control on a given structure will depend on such factors as thoroughness of the application, environmental conditions, and density of termites in the area. If termites swarm again and continue to be a problem the year after treatment, it's usually not form degradation of the termiticide – but because termites have found an untreated gap in the chemical barrier.

GRACE NOTES

At my church we talk a lot about beauty.

The ancient Greeks and the early Christians elevated three prime virtues: truth, goodness and beauty, and as Russian novelist Dostoevsky wrote, "Beauty will save the world."

A longing for beauty is primal. A lack of it brings despair.

A year or so ago, Christianity Today launched a project called "This is Our City." In the overview it says that a new generation of Christians believes God is calling them to "seek shalom" in their cities by using their gifts and talents in all areas of city life — commerce, government, technology, media, education, the arts.

Their goal is to see their cities transformed.

Not just see souls saved, but to see their cities become beautiful.

The Christianity Today website posts essays, articles and documentary videos about what these Christians are doing and the effects on places like New York City, Phoenix, Detroit, Silicon Valley, Richmond, Va., Portland, Ore., and a place they call "7th City," which is "your" city, opening the project up to include anywhere and everywhere.

Every place needs the transforming power of beauty.

One of the "This is Our City" projects is a neighborhood youth garden in the Brightmoor area of northwest Detroit, started in 2008 by a Dutch woman named Riet Schumack. She is "gardening to make beauty out of blight."

When she first moved to Brightmoor in 2006, almost half the houses were abandoned. Surrender to despair and apathy was rampant, especially among the young.

She says in the documentary, "When we live in ugliness and blight and it doesn't bother us, we are very, very broken, and very far from where God intended us to be."

She says of gardening, "It feeds me. It's like breath. I inhale it. The Lord has created everything beautiful for us, and we are built to bask in that."

As she gardened, the kids in the area became interested, so she started showing them how to grow vegetables and flowers. The young people began taking pride in what they grew and took their vegetables to market, earning money for their love and their labor.

Since 2008, the one youth-owned, youth-operated garden has grown to 50 farms, gardens and pocket parks. There's still despair in Detroit, but hope is gradually overcoming it as beauty moves in.

In other places, a nurse in Phoenix provides free medical care to the poor and to undocumented immigrants. A Phoenix entrepreneur bases his software company on "collaboration, transparency and honesty," and has opened up his company's workspace to smaller companies in the area that can't afford to pay rent.

In Seattle, an art collector hangs her artwork in a local coffee shop in a rundown neighborhood.

Little by little, God is using his people to transform the places where they live by using beauty and grace, the beauty and grace of the gospel and the gifts God has given them.

In many churches, the focus is on Christ's imminent return, as it should be, but not to the neglect and exclusion of the corner of the world we live in.

We're to be light in the dark places, a preserving and healing presence like salt. We're to produce great art, build grand buildings, create music that stirs the soul. Not for ourselves, but for those around us, to spark in them a longing for beauty, the beauty of Christ.

In his book, "Beauty Will Save the World," Brian Zahnd writes, "Christianity has suffered a loss of beauty — a loss that needs to be recovered. With an emphasis on truth, we have tried to make Christianity persuasive (as we should). But we also need a corresponding emphasis on beauty to make Christianity attractive ... Christianity needs to be presented as beautiful. Often where truth cannot convince, beauty can entice."

Dear friends, if we say we love, then we cannot let blight win. This world is our home even as we wait for our eternal home.

I think we honor God by dreaming big and doing what we can to bring the beauty of Christ into our surroundings, not by force and arrogance, but in humility simply being who we are and who he has made us to be, using the gifts and talents he has given us as we proclaim the gospel of the kingdom.

This is our city, wherever we may be. What can we do to make it beautiful?

Technical students inducted into honor society

Technical schools across the nation nominate students for admission into the National Technical Honor Society. At Harrison ATC, only one student per program is nominated for admission to the NTHS and must meet a series of rigorous standards. Each candidate must have a 95 percent attendance rate, maintain a 3.0 grade point average, demonstrate school and community involvement, and compose a thoughtful essay describing their future career plans. This year's honorees are Ethan Barnett-Carpentry, Mikayla Fryman - Health Sciences, William Mason-Mechanics,

Cut flowers from the garden should be enjoyed indoors

The cool spring has finally ushered in May flowers!

I love cut flowers from the garden. There is a simple, happy satisfaction that comes from picking a bundle of peonies for the kitchen work table.

Just be sure to shake the ants off first.

The other thing about a cool spring with adequate rain fall is that the weather is acting as a sorts of preservative: All those beautiful blooms are lasting much longer than normal.

When planning a garden, I always consider a seasonal offering of cut flowers for indoor arrangements.

These flowers can work double-duty and attract beneficial insects, as well.

You can plan on cut blooms starting in very early spring with daffodils and woodland flowers; in May the peonies fill the house with their spicy, sweet scent; and then a steady stream of annuals and perennials fill mason jars and vases through the first frost.

I will even hit the weedy side of the dam for an arrangement of golden rod and poke.

Since cutting gardens are about production the first order of business is preparing the soil.

You will want maximum harvest so prepare the soil with compost for extra nutrition; good drainage is ideal, as well. Some of our favorite cutting flowers like cosmos and zinnias demand good drainage.

In fact, these annuals are so undemanding a little neglect often improves performance.

If you have the space, plant out your cutting gar-

Jeneen Wiche
Columnist
www.SwallowRailFarm.com

den in rows or blocks.

Planting, cultivation and harvesting will be easier and more efficient.

In order to maximize production, work a slow-release fertilizer like cottonseed or alfalfa meal into the soil during the planting of seedlings or container plants; if starting from seed wait to side-dress the plants once they have several sets of true leaves.

Providingsmallamounts of fertilizer to the plants' root systems at a slow rate can be supplemented by a bi-weekly application of a water soluble fertilizer like fish emulsion or a manufactured brand.

Certainly, food and water are essential for maximum production so if Mother Nature does not provide rainfall then water one inch per week on average, depending on the requirements of the plant.

If flowers go uncut be sure to dead-head any spent blooms.

You want your annuals and perennials to expend their energy on producing blooms, not seeds. However, at the end of the season allow some flowers to go to seed so that you can harvest them for planting next year.

In my world, success as a cutting flower is measured in three days. If you can hold your color, petals and resist wilting for three days in a vase you are a good cut flower.

Annuals typically make up the bulk of a cutting garden; some reliable blooms include bachelor buttons and cosmos, which generally reseed themselves year after year.

As soon as the soil warms, I sew zinnias in all shapes and sizes.

Sunflowers are a snap to start from seed, too.

Perennials also have a place in the cutting garden and quite a few last in the vase well beyond the three-day mark. Gaillardia, Veronica, Veronicastrum, Eryngium, Solidago, Salvias, Helianthus, Heliopsis, Achillea and Echinacea are all prolific summer perennials that deserve a row in the cutting garden.

Good filler plants that appeal to me and hold up relatively well (I say relatively because there is a little blossom drop after a couple of days) includes catmint 'Six Hills Giant' in late spring through the summer; and Russian sage and beautiful mint (Calamintha) in late summer. You can also use foliage plants like Solomon's seal, Hosta and herbs as fillers in your vase. These "fillers" have the ability to anchor cut arrangements literally and figuratively.

All of these high volume plants will fill the vase, then you can add the flowers that you really want to highlight, like the tall purple pompom's of drumstick Allium or the bright orange cluster of Aesclepias, or butterfly weed, in late spring; or the bright blue of salvia "Black and Blue" in the summer.

USDA farm payments scheduled to resume

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farm Service Agency (FSA) Administrator announces that farm payments, which had been temporarily suspended due to sequestration, are scheduled to resume today, May 8. This includes payments for the 2011 Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments Program (SURE), the Noninsured Crop Assistance Program (NAP) and the Milk Income Loss Contract Program (MILC).

On March 4, 2013, FSA began a temporary suspension of FSA program payments in order to assess the impact of sequestration and determine the least-disruptive process possible for carrying out required cuts. The Department will use the Secretary's limited authority to transfer funds to avoid reducing these program payments.

Producers should be advised that program sign-up periods currently underway have the following enrollment deadlines: 2013 Average Crop Revenue Election (ACRE) Program - June 3; 2011 SURE - June 7; and the 2013 Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program - Aug. 2. Producers should contact the Farm Service Agency office at 234-2646 as soon as possible for appointments to enroll in these programs before the deadlines.

Prevented planting deadlines announced

With spring planting underway, the Farm Service Agency is reminding producers to timely report any prevented or failed acreage to their local office.

Prevented planting acreage, or acreage that could not be planted because of wet field conditions or other natural disaster, should be reported to FSA within 15 days of the final planting date of the crop. This includes crops covered by crop insurance or the Non-insured Assistance Program (NAP) and crops without insurance coverage. Producers should contact their local FSA office or crop insurance agent to verify final planting dates for all crops since they vary among counties and crop types.

For crop losses on crops covered by the Non-insured Assistance Program (NAP), producers must contact their local FSA office within 15 days of the occurrence of the disaster or when losses become apparent to file a Notice of Loss. Producers with crop insurance should contact their local agent when losses occur and before destroying the crop.

To report prevented or failed acreage, producers must complete Form CCC-576, Notice of Loss for interested crops. Reporting prevented or failed acreage to FSA will ensure compliance with current farm programs, and possible eligibility for future disaster programs.

If a producer misses the reporting deadline for prevented planting, they may still report prevented planting acreage as long as the disaster condition may be verified by a field visit before it is abandoned or destroyed.

Contact the FSA Service Center at 234-2646 for additional information.

Termites

From TERMITES page 8

Will the chemicals harm my family or pets? Termiticides are tested extensively for adverse effects on health. Before a product can be used, numerous studies are conducted by the manufacturer and independently evaluated by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Based on the current body of knowledge, registered termiticides pose no significant hazard to humans, pets or the environment when applied according to label directions. Despite the negligible health risk from a properly performed termite treatment, people with lingering concerns should consult their physician. Most of the newer liquids products have essentially no odor. Clients who are still apprehensive may want to consider having their home treated with baits.

recommendations in this publication are registered for use in Kentucky only! The use of some products may not be legal in your state or country. Please check with your local county extension agent or regulatory official before using any pesticide mentioned in this article.

Of course, always read and follow label directions for safe use of any pesticide.

Kentucky's 2013 CRP sign-up begins May 20

Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director John W. McCauley reminds landowners, farmers, and ranchers that the opportunity to enroll in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up 45 begins Monday, May 20 and ends June 14.

Producers who want to offer eligible land for CRP's competitive general sign-up may enroll at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) county office where their farm records are maintained.

CRP is a voluntary program available to agricultural producers to help them use environmentally sensitive land for conservation benefits. Producers enrolled in CRP plant long-term, resource conserving covers to improve the quality of water, control soil erosion, and develop wildlife habitat.

In return, USDA provides participants with rental payments and cost-share assistance.

Contract duration is between 10 and 15 years. Producers with expiring contracts and producers with environmentally sensitive land are encouraged to evaluate their options under CRP.

CRP continues to make major contributions to national efforts to improve water and air quality, prevent soil erosion by protecting the most sensitive areas including those prone to flash flooding and runoff.

At the same time, CRP has helped increase populations of pheasants, quail, ducks, and other rare species, like the sage grouse, the lesser prairie chicken, and others.

Producers that are accepted in the sign-up can receive cost-share assistance for planting covers and receive an annual rental payment for the length of the contract (10-15 years).

Producers also are encouraged to look into CRP's other enrollment opportunities offered on a continuous, non-competitive, sign-up basis. Continuous sign-ups often provide additional financial assistance.

Those sign-up dates will be announced later.

For more information on CRP and other FSA programs, visit your local FSA county office or www.fsa.usda.gov.

County committee nominations begin June 17

Kentucky's USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director John McCauley, wants to remind farmers and landowners that local Farm Service Agency (FSA) county committee nomination begins on Friday, June 17.

To be eligible to serve on an FSA county committee, a person must participate or cooperate in a program administered by FSA, be eligible to vote in a county committee election and reside in the local administrative area in which the person is a candidate.

Farmers and ranchers may nominate themselves or others, and organizations representing minorities and women also may nominate candidates. To become a candidate, an eligible individual must sign the nomination form, FSA-669A. The form and other information about FSA county committee elections are available online at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections. Nomination forms for the 2013 election must be postmarked or received in the local USDA Service Center by close of business on Aug. 1, 2013. Elections will take place this fall.

While FSA county committees do not approve or deny farm operating loans, they make decisions on disaster and conservation programs, emergency programs, commodity price support loan programs and other agricultural issues. Members serve three-year terms.

FSA will mail ballots to eligible voters beginning Nov. 4. The voted ballots are due back to the local county office either via mail or in person by Dec. 2. Newly elected committee members and alternates take office on Jan. 1, 2014.

Contact the FSA Service Center at 234-2646 for additional information.

FSA announces CRP continuous signup

On May 13, 2013, the USDA-Farm Service Agency began accepting new offers and approving new contracts under CRP's Continuous, CREP, FWP, and SAFE signups.

The following practices are available under continuous signup:

CP-8A Grass Waterways Non-easement; CP-9 Shallow Water Areas for Wildlife; CP-21 Filter Strips, CP-22 Riparian Buffers, CP-29 Marginal Pastureland and Wildlife Habitat Buffer, CP-23 Wetland Restoration; CP-33 Habitat Buffers for Upland Birds; and CP-38 State Acres for Wildlife, and CP-42 Pollinator Habitat.

Landowners enrolled in the CRP program receive annual rental payments and cost-share assistance to establish long-term, resource conserving covers on eligible farmland. Land that is not currently enrolled in CRP can be offered during sign-up if all eligibility requirements are met. Expiring CRP continuous contracts can be re-enrolled with an enrollment date of Oct. 1, 2013.

The authority for this signup will end Sept. 30, 2013.

For more information about the CRP Continuous Signup visit online at www.fsa.usda.gov or contact your local FSA office.

Thorobreds trap Bearcats 5-2

Lose to Camels 2-0 on Monday

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

Harrison County improved its 2013 baseball record to 18-5 on Thursday as they defeated Anderson County's Bearcats 5-2 in a game on the Hilltop.

The Bearcats (7-16) trailed throughout the game as senior hurler Jordan Martin held them to four hits in his six innings of work.

Anderson County scored both of its runs in the top of the seventh off relief pitcher Gus Garrison, who gave up a home run to junior lead off hitter Brandon Eliadis after he had walked pinch hitter Christian Shepherd.

Harrison County scored the first run of the game with two outs in the second inning.

Alex Kinsey was hit by a pitch and scored when Anderson County pitcher Josh Brown walked Noah Mitchell with the bases loaded.

Harrison County added another single run in the third when John King scored after leading off with a single. Zach Royce sacrificed King to second, Brandon Kendall singled him to third and Kinsey drove him across with an RBI single.

Mitchell reached first on an error by the third baseman with one out and scored two batters later when King hit a two-run homer to give the Breds a 4-0 lead after four innings.

Kinsey then completed the Thorobreds' scoring in the fifth when he tagged a solo home run for the 5-0 lead.

Anderson County scored two runs in the seventh for the final 5-2 verdict.

Martin struck out nine in his six innings of work as he gave up four hits and two free passes.

King and Kinsey were the hit leaders as they each were two for two with a home run, two runs scored and two runs batted in.

The Breds could have used some hit leaders on Monday as they traveled to Campbell County and were defeated 2-0 by the Camels.

For the game, Harrison County had three hits and struck out 14 times against senior pitcher Tyler Walsh.

The Camels got to junior Harrison County hurler Nolan Brossart for a run in the first and one in the third, both scored by Walsh, which would be all the runs that they would need for the win.

Breds runners up, Fillies 5th in Regional Track Meet

15 Breds, three Fillies to compete at state meet

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

"We finished region champs last year and runners up this, and I am extremely proud of this group of athletes," said Thorobreds Track Coach Robert Walker. "Considering the people we lost to graduation and those that fell by the wayside this year this group showed a lot of heart. We had people who were injured competing and giving their all."

Lexington Catholic finished in first Saturday with 136 points followed by the Breds who edged Highlands 105 to 104. Covington Catholic was fourth with 71 followed by Western Hills, Franklin County, Holmes, Pendleton County, Lloyd and Bourbon County.

Sophomore Jordan Kenney brought home the only first place medals for the Thorobreds as he won the long jump with a leap of 19 feet, 1/2 inch and the high jump by clearing 5 feet, 10 inches with fewer previous misses than teammate Mason Ritchie who finished second.

Both jumpers will compete in the AA State Track Meet in Louisville on the May 24. Thirteen other Thorobreds qualified for 11 events by finishing second or having a time or height or distance jumped that qualified them compared to the other AA regionals throughout the state.

Todd Puckett was second in the long jump only three and one quarter inches behind Kenney and also ran a leg in the state qualifying 800M relay and the fourth place 400M relay along with Kassidy Cook placed 6th in the 100M dash. She also qualified for state in three jumping events.

Fillies end regular season with region rivals, tough Lexington games

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Harrison County Fillies are closing out the regular season with a mixture of district and region rivals and some tough games in Lexington.

Coach Christine Garnett's Fillies began the prelude to the season with a Thursday game with district opponent Pendleton County at Shirley Field in the annual Cancer Awareness Game.

It was a four-inning affair with the Fillies banging out 14 hits and 15 runs in their four at bats.

Senior Ashley Coppage was four-for-four to lead the Harrison County attack.

Haley Powers had two doubles, Shelby Ishmael had one double and Sydney Motell blasted a triple for the Harrison County extra base hits.

Pendleton County had one base runner as third baseman Haley Carr was hit by a pitch in the third but that was all the Lady Cats could muster.

Jami Davis struck out seven and walked no one in a masterful performance.

The Fillies improved to 19-6 with the win while Pendleton County dropped to 6-9.

On Saturday, the Harrison County girls traveled to Lexington's Henry Clay High School for a triangle tournament with Ashland Blazer and Henry Clay.

The Fillies faced the 16th Region powerhouse Kittens and were soundly defeated 13-1.

In this game, Ashland Blazer broke open a 4-0 score with eight runs in the fourth to put the game out of reach.

Junior McKenzie Vanover and sophomore pitcher Megan

Henley each hit home runs and Henley limited the Fillies to an unearned run.

Ashland Blazer improved to 19-8 while the Fillies fell to 19-7 with the loss.

The Fillies next played the Lady Blue Devils of Henry Clay and made a much better game falling 6-3.

Haley Powers hit a home run and Taylor Reffett and Motell each had RBI doubles in this game.

Henry Clay started the game hot as catcher Emily Miller hit a two-run home run in the bottom of the first and the Lady Devils never trailed.

The home-standing Henry Clay squad scored twice in the first and two more in the fourth and sixth to secure the victory to improve to 12-8. Harrison County fell to 19-8 with this loss.

This is what bedtime stories are made of

I try to get home at night in time to tell my two youngest grandchildren a bedtime story. This time of year when I umpire a lot and other times when I am working and traveling, I don’t get home to tell one but many nights I do.

My stories vary from fairy tales with my own particular spin on them or stories from when I was young as I remember them.

No stories about “little Jerry” or the such, but entertaining tid-bits of the G or at least PG rating are what the grandchildren ask me to tell them.

Cecilia likes the fractured fairy tales and Ian likes the “true life” stories of my childhood.

There is also an occasion where Riley is there too and he is more in Cece’s camp of the fractured fairy tales.

The three youngest grandchildren are playing baseball at River Road, which is where their stories for their grandchildren will come from some day.

Cecilia is on the Yankees T-Ball team and to date they are sailing through an undefeated season.

They have played two games.

She has several buddies on this team not the least being Harrison Hatter, who is a younger, shorter version of his late grandpa Harry David Varner.

I can only imagine the stories that she is making to tell her grandchildren as she plays her way through T-Ball with her pink bat and pink batting helmet.

Ian and Riley play for Auto Systems and while they have won one of three, they are also having the time of their lives making the stories that they will some day tell their off springs.

Darrell Baxter is the coach and he makes the game fun for the boys while trying his level best to teach the skulls of mush that make up the Auto Systems team a few things about the grand old game.

Now I am getting to the point of my story other than bragging about my grandchildren: The fun part of Little League and T-Ball is what the kids will remember and not so much the wins and losses. That is why a coach like Baxter is important to the league and why every team needs someone with the proper perspective to coach them in the formative years of baseball.

After all, if KFC or some other team goes undefeated, will the Reds finally get rid of Dusty and come down and pick up the coach to move up to the majors? Doubtful!

So why coach like the World Series depends on it?

Try smiling and encouraging instead of frowning and brow beating and the memories you help create will be the ones that stories to the grandchildren will be made from.

Speaking of stories, if you ask me nicely I will tell you my version of the Three Little Pigs. Cecilia loves it and I only take a few liberties with the actual story.

Harrison County hunter education class scheduled for May 20-22

If you plan on hunting this year and haven't taken a safe hunter education class, you need to sign up for this class.

A safe hunter education class will be held May 20-22 at the Harrison County Extension Office. The classes are from 6-9 p.m. The 10-hour class is free, open to the public, and all materials are provided for each student. You must be nine years old or older to take the class.

The classes are sponsored by the Department of Fish and Wildlife of Kentucky and are taught by Harrison County volunteer instructors.

To pre-register for the class call Judy K. Morris at 859-234-9928 or the Harrison County Extension Office at 859-234-5510.

There will be two more classes held this year: July 22-24 and Sept. 23-25.

Baseball Alumni Association announces First Class/Banquet

The Cynthiana-Harrison County Baseball Alumni Association has named the first 15 members of the newly formed Baseball Hall of Fame.

The banquet honoring these players and coaches will be held in the Harrison County High School cafeteria on Saturday, June 29, with a fellowship get together at 5:30 p.m. followed by a meal at 6 p.m. and ceremonies beginning at 7 p.m.

To be eligible for selection to the Hall of Fame a player must have graduated 15 years prior to the selection process. A player, coach or contributor can be nominated by anyone.

The first class consists of Coaches: Mac Whitaker, Don Snopek, Ronnie Herrington and Jim Whitaker. Cynthiana High School players: Hervey McClellan and William "Bill" Nichols; and Harrison County High School players: Chris Snopek, Shon Walker, Dion Newby, Will Renaker, Kiley Vaughn, John Hampton, Jody Crump, Brad Allison and Mark Clifford.

Because of a scheduling conflict, Allison will not be able to attend this year's Hall of Fame banquet. Although he will be considered to be a member of the inaugural class, he will be inducted in the following year's ceremony.

Tickets for the event will be $20 per person and must be purchased prior to June 22. Tickets for children under 10 years old will be $5 each. Tickets are available from Jim Fuller, Buddy Renaker and Ron England. For ticket information, call England at 588-2460 or email at ron.england@ymail.com.

Players at all positions will be evaluated at the tryouts including kickers. Registration for non-kickers is at 10 a.m. with the kickers signing in at 11 a.m.

The tryouts will consist of a combination of drills, including a 40 yard dash, 20 yard shuttle and various position-specific drills. The tryout is open to anyone 18 and over who has completed high school and is not under contract with any professional football team.

Those wishing to tryout need to pick up a tryout packet which is available by contacting Eric Taylor or JaQuar Sanders at warhorse.profootball@gmail.com. Early registration fee is $50 with a $65 fee at the day of the tryouts.

Season tickets are also on sale now for the Warhorse's inaugural season which begins in 2014. The home games will be played in the Alltech Arena at the Kentucky Horse Park. The league includes other teams from Kentucky in Louisville, Pikeville and Owensboro.

Season tickets are extremely affordable and include parking passes for each game and other extra benefits. Ticket information can be obtained by contacting Eric Taylor at 859-940-6569 or via email at warhorses.profootball@gmail.com.

Harrison County boys golf tryouts to be held Monday, July 15

Coach Jason Crisp has announced that the tryouts for the boys' golf team will be held on Monday, July 15.

"Due to the interest in boys' golf at the school we will hold tryouts to determine who will be on the team," he said in a statement released on Monday. "The format will be used which will consist of one round of 18 holes. The number of team members for the boys' golf team will not exceed 12 golfers."

In order to participate in the tryouts, the player must have an up-to-date physical for the 2013 season. The physical form must be with the player for the tryout or they will not be able to participate.

Free physicals for all athletes will be given at Harrison Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, June 18, from 5-7 p.m. They will be given in the Wellness Center and Physical Therapy Department. This is the only date for free physicals.

Forms are available from Rosemary Whitaker in the athletic department of the high school. The form must be signed by a parent before the physical can be given so a parent must sign ahead of time or be there for the physical.

There will be forms at the hospital on June 18, but the parent will have to be there to sign on that day. If an athlete needs a ride, please contact Whitaker and she will assist you. This physical is for all HCHS athletes who plan to compete in 2013-14 not only the golfers.

The girls' golf sign up will be Wednesday, July 17, at 10 a.m. at the Cynthiana Country Club. The girls must also have a completed physical form with them to sign up.

Upward soccer registration being accepted at Connersville Christian

Breds

From BREDS page 12

Harrison County threatened only once for the game and that was in the second inning. Kinsey drew a two-out walk and Royce singled but Brett Persinger struck out to end the threat. Walsh struck out the side in two of the seven innings and had two punch outs in three other innings in the game. Royce had two of the three Thorobreds hits. The loss leaves Harrison County with an 18-6 record while Campbell County improves to 13-15. The Thorobreds will host Walton Verona (10-13) on Wednesday, travel to Bates Creek (22-6) on Thursday and close out the regular season Friday with a home match with Scott County (19-11-1). The Breds will face Robertson County (1-17) in the first game of the district on Monday at Nicholas County.

Track

J.J. Willis, Zach Mastin and Davonte Kenney. Scott Kendall qualified for the state in the 400M dash with a fifth place finish in the Region 4 meet, which is the toughest in the state for AA along with the 800M relay and the 1600M relay. Grant Carr was third in the 800M run, which qualified him for the state meet along with his leg of the 1600M relay with Kendall, Ben Anness, and Derrick Hurst, and the 3200M relay quartet of Joe Thomas, Austin Short, Harry Smith and Carr. Both the 1600M relay and the 3200 meter relay joined the 800M relay in qualifying for state. The 800M relay of Willis, Puckett, Kendall and Anness finished second as did the 1600M relay. The 3200M relay was third. Daniel Klapheke finished second in the 110M hurdles and third in the 300M hurdles both times qualifying for the state meet. Colton Burus was third in the 110M hurdles, which also qualified him for a week from Friday's meet. Taylor Bolin was third in the pole vault with a leap of 10 feet, 6 inches, which sends him to the state meet for the second straight year, and Joey Faulconer will also return to the big meet as he was fourth in the 1600M run with a time of 4:37.59. The Fillies will send three girls to compete in six events for the Louisville state meet. Haley Carr won the 100M hurdles and finished third in the 300M hurdles to qualify for both events in the state meet. Mia Lail was third in the 100M hurdles as she, like Carr, will be making a return trip to the state. The newcomer to the University of Louisville Track and Field Complex will be sophomore Cassidy Cook who qualified in the high jump, triple jump and the long jump. Cook won the high jump at the region meet, finished second in the triple jump and third in the long jump to score some big points in the nine-team contest. She was also sixth in the 100M dash. The Harrison County relay teams just fell short at the regionals of qualifying for the state. The 800M relay of Tarah Martin, Carr, Kinsey Lesak, and Brooklyn Wiggins finished fourth after bobbling the baton and the 1600M relay of Martin, Carr, Lesak and Jessica Alas improved their best time of the year by five seconds finishing fourth.

Fillies

From FILLIES page 12

The Fillies improved to 20-8 on Monday night when they headed south on U.S. 27 to Paris and spanked the Lady Hounds 18-1. Sixth graders Bailey Conley and Jima Hill combined for a three-hit, no earned run game in the five innings needed for the win. Harrison County put together 20 hits to gain the 18 runs as they sent nine batters to the plate in the top of the first scoring four times. The Fillies put the game completely out of reach in the fourth when 14 batters came to the plate and the visiting nine scored nine runs. Powers was four-for-four to lead the Harrison County attack while the extra base hits came from Morgan Grose with a triple and Coppage, Ishmael and Courtney Newsom who each had a double. Paris falls to 6-18 with the loss. On Tuesday, the Fillies were back in Lexington, this time to face the Lexington Catholic Lady Knights. The momentum of this game turned in the very first inning as the Fillies came out swinging but to no avail. The first three batters, Coppage, Grose and Motell singled but a fielder's choice and two hard hit line drives ended the threat with nothing to show for the effort. Lexington Catholic took advantage of four straight bases on balls, a single and an error to score three times in the bottom of the first putting Harrison County behind after one inning 3-0. Davis uncharacteristically walked nine batters in this game as the strike zone was elusive on this Tuesday night. Catholic put two more runs on the board in the second on another walk; a triple and a single to make the score 5-0 after two innings were played. Harrison County scored its two runs in the fifth when, after two outs, Grose walked, Motell reached on an error at first base and Powers tripled to drive both runners in to score. The Fillies battled in this game but the first inning blow was too much to overcome. Harrison County had seven base hits including doubles by Coppage and Motell, who reached base all four times that she batted. Lexington Catholic only had four hits but the walks played a huge role in their ability to score runs and they came away with the 6-2 win. Catholic is now 14-9 for the year while the Fillies are 20-10. Harrison County plays at Mason County on Thursday in a varsity doubleheader, then returns home on Friday to face George Rogers Clark and on Saturday completes the regular season with a triangle tournament with Estill County and Western Hills. The district tournament is in Pendleton County beginning on Tuesday.

and is for age 4 through grade 6. There will be a camp T-shirt and a variety of prizes during the camp. Registration forms for this camp along with the basketball camp are available at each elementary school and the middle school. Cost per camper is $50. Call Coach Jenkins at 588-6068 for more information. The same day the soccer camp starts, Coach Mac Whitaker will begin his annual baseball camp. This camp is held at the River Road Park ball fields and begins June 3 at 8:45 a.m. and goes to 12:15 p.m. each day. The camp ends on Thursday, June 6. This camp is for Coach Pitch through Babe Ruth League players or ages 6 -14. The cost is $70 with the check made out to Coach Mac Whitaker. There will be a T-shirt for each camper and other contests with prizes for the winners. Each camper will have their velocity checked with the radar gun. Again, forms are available at the schools and there are a limited number of spots available so pre-registration is advised. June 11-13 is the Nick Hill Breds Soccer Camp. This camp is from 9-11 a.m. each morning and will also be held at LeBus Field. Grades K-8 are invited to this camp with a fee of $45. Parents sending two or more children will be able to send all after the first for $20 each. Checks are payable to HCHS Boys Soccer and early registration is encouraged. Coach Hill can be reached at 588-0773 for more information. The registration forms like the others are at the elementary schools and the middle school.

The Harrison County Thorobreds Youth Basketball Camp will be held from July 22-25. There will be two daily sessions for this camp. Five years through fifth grade will be from 8:30-11:30 a.m. and the sixth grade through 12th grade 12:30 - 3:30 p.m. Each child receives a basketball and a shirt. Cost is $60 per child with the second or more children of the same household at $45 each. Checks are payable to HCHS Boys Basketball. Coach Larry Kendall can be reached at 234-7117 or 588-1601 and by email at larry.kendall@harrison.kyschools.us.

Elizabeth Boyers was fourth in the high jump, Caylin Mattox was fifth in both the pole vault and the 300M hurdles and Alas was fifth in the 200M dash. Both the 400M relay team of Mattox, Boyers, Wiggins and Lesak and the 3200M relay of Mary Levi, Martin, Bailey Caudill and Kayla Joy finished sixth for the Fillies. Lexington Catholic also won the girls' portion of the meet scoring 126 points. Franklin County was second with 109 edging Highlands who had 107. Probably the surprise of the meet was Western Hills, last year's state champs, finishing fourth with 96 points just ahead of the Fillies who were fifth with 67 followed by Lloyd, Holmes, Bourbon County and Pendleton County. "I'm proud of the girls," said Coach Danny Simpson. "They all gave great efforts especially considering the number of injuries that we have had this season. I wish that we had more girls competing at the state meet but we will return a strong group next year."

Colton Burus competed in the 300M hurdles last Saturday as Harrison County traveled to Pendleton County for the Class AA, Region 4 Track and Field Championships.

HMH radiology receives ACR accreditation in MRI services

The HMH radiology department can add another feather to its cap. The Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) services received re-accreditation by the American College of Radiology. The program is accredited for Hitachi Open MRI for adult and pediatric patients.

The entire program is evaluated on the facility, personnel qualifications, image quality, equipment, quality control procedures and protocols. This involved an extensive application process. MRI Radiology Technologists, Abigail Coffee and Noelle Currans have worked on the project for the past year, along with the medical director of radiology, Dr. Doug Crutcher.

The ACR awards accreditation to facilities for the achievement of high practice standards after a peer-review evaluation of its practice. Image quality and procedure evaluations are conducted by board-certified radiologists and medical physicists who are experts in the field. The program also evaluates personnel qualifications, adequacy of facility equipment, quality control procedures and quality assurance programs. All findings are reported to the practice via a comprehensive report that includes recommendations for improvement.

"Re-accreditation of the MRI shows HMH's true commitment to quality patient care," says Bowles, HMH radiology manager.

Other modalities to have this accreditation are computed tomography (CT) scan, mammography and nuclear medicine.

The HMH Radiology Department plays a critical role in the accurate imaging, reading of images and diagnosis of patients by offering a full-range of services for both adults and pediatric. The department is staffed by two board-certified, experienced radiologists as well as radiology technologists. All radiology technologists are certified and licensed in his or her field of practice.

To learn more about the radiology department, visit the HMH website at harrisonmemhosp.com. Or contact the department at 859-235-3559.
